rings are spinning on rod, camera pans to the left to get a shot down the tower zoom in on the spinning rings the camera bends and goes through the spacing of the rings once at the end of the rod just go off the end... to black
as if falling off the rod; the rings fall past the camera while spinning the pieces slow to show a similarity to a Kandinsky piece; then they continue to fall fall and fade to black.